Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 14 Apr 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mostly fine and dry, with frosty nights.

Today:
A few showers, mainly in the southwest, but dry for the vast majority with good sunny spells. Temperatures still below average for many but feeling warm in sunshine and light winds away from the east England coast.

Tonight:
Another chilly night, particularly in the east with a fairly widespread frost again, but dry. The odd fog patch possible in the west.

Thursday:
Fine with good sunshine for most though a few showers feeding into east England through the day, perhaps reaching central parts. Cool in the breezier east.

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Widely fine and settled with sunny spells. Becoming a little warmer by day though still cold overnight. A little rain in northern and western parts later in the weekend.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.